

MAGGIE HAWKES

We introduce you to our very own elephant Minds London Tour Guide, Maggie Hawkes.

Maggie was born in Yorkshire in the north of England and educated at Aireborough Grammar School. She came down to London to seek employment and started working at Thames Television, which used to be in Kingsway.

Throughout her working life in the tourist industry Maggie has worked for a number of different companies and organisations and has organised and led tours around Great Britain, Scotland, Wales and Ireland. She has accompanied for many years cruise tours in various European countries and Turkey. Maggie has also played an important role in the organisation of conferences, seminars and incentive groups with Business people in London.

Maggie has seen many changes in London over the years and tells us it has become the most vibrant, diverse and green city in the world with always something new and different to see and visit. Very special to her are the 7 Royal Parks, which are so important when living in a very busy city - seeing them throughout the seasons especially... and many walks along the river Thames. Maggie has completed the Capital Ring around London (78 miles!) and received a certificate from London Transport for finishing this special walk.

Also a curious Mind, Maggie's interests include Museums, Art Galleries, Architecture, Walking, Yoga, Theatre, Cinema and of course travel.
